From a mom of a Sibshop participant:

"Sibshops is a wonderful opportunity for siblings of special needs children to get together for fun, collaboration, and fellowship. Our son felt like he was able to share his experiences with other peers who understood what he was feeling. He was able to talk freely about his frustrations and also the fun times that he has with his brother. He was able to learn that there are other kids like him and, together, the children in the group shared their ideas and strategies to help support their siblings and their families."
